- 12:19 am AmazingAmma: <http://bit.ly/bhdPJV> - a letter from James Delisle about stress. Seems to accompany perfectionism #gtchat
- 12:19 am DavidsonGifted: Lots of parents and teachers talking about thier own perfectionistic tendencies. Always be cognizant of behaviors you are modeling. #gtchat
- 12:19 am teachagiftedkid: #gtchat It is important for teachers and parents demonstrate how to admit a mistake and how to learn from it to children & students.
- 12:19 am DeborahMersino: Borba on signs: Intensely competitive, physical/stress ailments, unwilling to risk, quick to anger, may put others down #gtchat

- 12:21 am KTVee: interested in thoughts on perfectionism leading to work avoidance; can't get it "perfect" so don't do it at all #gtchat
- 12:22 am getsweetie: I think fear of inadequacy is often the root of perfectionism....a self imposed boundary of perfectionism to be enough #gtchat
- 12:22 am ReneeFineArt: #gtchat ...she hit school. She hated it, was bored & unhappy. Is 16 now & in her last year and has never fitted into the school system.
- 12:22 am minikhailovna: Well, firstly: I never had to put to much effort in anything. Tho, the moment I got challenged, I stop functioning academically too #gtchat
- 12:22 am TheMissBobbie: it helps to stop, look around, and realize that most of the world is happy with less than perfect, we have to learn it ourselves #gtchat
- 12:22 am laughingatchaos: RT @getsweetie: I think fear of inadequacy is often the root of perfectionism..a self imposed boundary of perfectionism to be enough #gtchat

- 12:23 am laughingatchaos: @getsweetie I agree! If I don't try, no one will know I'm not perfect. #gtchat
- 12:23 am getsweetie: The dichotomy between what our GT children can think yet not produce yet on paper is often the source of classroom issues #gtchat
- 12:24 am KTVee: I have seen kiddos who put more pressure on themselves than imaginable; tough to talk them out of that behavior; gotta model it #gtchat
- 12:24 am giftedmum: #gtchat I know with myself avoidance& perfectionism they R not healthy.otherwise I will lay in Bed planning, thinking, scenario building etc
- 12:24 am DavidsonGifted: @TheMissBobbie Great point. The world is messy. Trying to make it perfect is a losing battle. Helping kids understand this is vital #gtchat
- 12:24 am minikhailovna: @DeborahMersino I try. I did some progress tho, but I still fear doing anything like writing, producing stuff, etc. Idk what to do #gtchat
- 12:24 am AmazingAmma: @TheMissBobbie That's a hard message when some schools push the "only the best will do" message to kids who already believe that #gtchat
- 12:24 am DeborahMersino: Strong feelings of deep-seated inadequacies can go hand-in-hand with giftedness. Hence, perfectionism/doubt. #gtchat
- 12:24 am giftedmum: RT @DeborahMersino: @giftedmum - I hear you - handwriting + the visual-spatial learner = avoidance and/or meltdown/frustrations. #gtchat
- 12:24 am laughingatchaos: @DeborahMersino AGH! Yes! VSL/handwriting/writing...misery here. I want to simply siphon out his great ideas, no writing involved! #gtchat

- 12:25 am TheMissBobbie: it's also good to set a timer for a task-when the timer goes off, the task is

- done - perfect or not #gtchat
- 12:25 am ReneeFineArt: #gtchat She achieved only a fraction of her potential at school and I am so disillusioned with the education system at never reaching her!

- 12:25 am TheMissBobbie: @AmazingAmma so true, sadly my son is in a school that does NOT push anyone to do his/her best #gtchat
- 12:25 am janellewilson: @KTVEE definitely an issue I have. Leads to procrastination issues but unlike my students am very bound by deadlines-always on time. #gtchat
- 12:26 am laughingatchaos: @ReneeFineArt This is what I fear for my sons. What keeps me up at night. #gtchat
- 12:26 am teachagiftedkid: #gtchat Fear of inadequacy: the driving factor of perfectionism. Daughter voiced that to me as a 23 year old about her middle school years
- 12:26 am TheMissBobbie: sometimes getting started is the hardest part - more often stopping is the hardest part-that's when timer works best #gtchat
- 12:26 am profplayfair: So hard not to put that pressure on themselves when they can SEE what is possible but cannot do. What a hard place to be. #gtchat
- 12:26 am giftedmum: RT @laughingatchaos: @DeborahMersino AGH! Yes! VSL/handwriting/writing...miserable here. I want to simply siphon out his great ideas, no writing involved! #gtchat
- 12:26 am DeborahMersino: Dr. Borba: Suggests getting to the root of the issue: Temperament, insecurity, fear of humiliation, poor modeling? #gtchat
- 12:26 am mommyperks: @laughingatchaos We have the handwriting issue here, too...uggghh... #gtchat
- 12:26 am AmazingAmma: @getsweetie @TheMissBobbie #gtchat Oh we use the timer a LOT in our house! :) #gtchat

- 12:27 am laughingatchaos: @profplayfair And that starts very early w/these kids. Before 2, often. Their whole lives are "I could do this, but..." #gtchat
- 12:27 am getsweetie: #GTchat my students wanted to KNOW and so much of their learning was automatic, when they couldn't break down what they did not "get"
- 12:27 am chrstinef: @teachagiftedkid It also has to do with how gifted kids define themselves..they think being smart means making NO mistakes #gtchat
- 12:27 am kidlutions: @DeborahMersino Is #gtchat going on NOW? HELP!
- 12:27 am chrstinef: RT @KTVEE: ?The thg that is rly hard, & rly amazing, is giving up on being perfect & beginning the work of becoming yourself.? A Qundlen #gtchat

- 12:29 am profplayfair: RT @chrstinef: @teachagiftedkid Right! No mistakes. But also... my son (still) thinks he should just KNOW how to do calculus! #gtchat
- 12:29 am laughingatchaos: @mommyperks Mostly bk reports, but may start general thoughts. Have set up a blog for him, mostly unused this year. #gtchat teachagiftedkid: #gtchat Question: what, if any, is the role of underachievement in perfectionism?

12:33 am

12:34 am

DeborahMersino: Huge! RT @teachagiftedkid #gtchat Question: what, if any, is the role of underachievement in perfectionism?

- 12:34 am TheMissBobbie: we narrow choices for our kids, is easier - tomorrow's clothes u may choose this or that, which one - gives control w/o overwhelming #gtchat
- 12:34 am laughingatchaos: @mommyperks Yeah, may re-encourage the blogging for him. #gtchat
- 12:35 am laughingatchaos: RT @kidlutions: I LOVE teaching kids about how some of the biggest mistakes became some of the gr8st inventions! more #gtchat
- 12:35 am getsweetie: Most of the children I work with in Juv prisons in the 1980's were misplaced/misguided/missed by test GT children with LD issues #gtchat
- 12:35 am chrstinef: @minikhailovna I wrote a series of posts on this topic a while back...you are not alone in those feelings #gtchat
- 12:35 am DeborahMersino: @proplayfair - Glad you were with us! #gtchat
- 12:35 am laughingatchaos: @kidlutions aspertame... #gtchat
- 12:35 am mommyperks: @laughingatchaos Oh, gosh. He hates "no" and thinks he can outsmart us. Pushes the limits to NO END. Drives me batty. #gtchat

- 12:35 am giftedmum: #gtchat the sad thing is as a perfectionist I gave 110% & I also expected that from others 2...Now as an adult I have a better world view.
- 12:35 am kidlutions: @KTVee Yes, absolutely! Mistakes are GR8! #gtchat
- 12:35 am getsweetie: #gtchat @teachagiftedkid glad to hear it might help!
- 12:35 am kidlutions: @laughingatchaos =) #gtchat
- 12:36 am getsweetie: @janellewilson its so easy for us all to create "rules" that truly don't support "what was the point of this" #gtchat
- 12:36 am laughingatchaos: @mommyperks LOL! Sounds VERY familiar. #gtchat
- 12:36 am kidlutions: @Blue_Gyrl Awesome! Thx! #gtchat
- 12:36 am laughingatchaos: @giftedmum DH has this prob too; causes no end of stress for him #gtchat

- 12:37 am KTVee: teach kids it's not about how many mistakes you make, but how you handle them! #gtchat
- 12:37 am kidlutions: Also, perfectionism may be linked to rigidity in thinking AND anxiety...lots tied up in this issue. #gtchat
- 12:37 am cybraryman1: It is important to learn how to deal with failure. #gtchat
- 12:37 am getsweetie: Our gt children have their own set of valueing/rules/performance critiques, very often VERY unrealistic rituals for healthy living #gtchat
